Our cactus seed oil:

Tunisian and Organic

Prickly pear trees grow everywhere in Tunisia. In spring, we can admire the yellow flowers on the cactus leaves, while in summer they grow into prickly pears, or Barbary figs, of multiple colors. Some are green and others are yellow or tinted with red, but no matter their color, they are all delicious and tasty.

Tunisia is a country with large abundance of prickly pear cactus plants. Indeed, the cultivation of prickly pears requires a warm climate and sun; conditions predominant in Tunisia.

The sector contributes to the social development of several Tunisian regions, particularly since rural women are the main actors in the agricultural value chain.

Barbary figs, nicknamed “the Sultan of the Fruits”, are among the favorite fruits for Tunisians in summer. However, beyond the delicious taste, they conceal many treasures hidden in their ... seeds! Miraculous oil can be extracted from the seeds.

Organic cactus seed oil is among the most prized cosmetic oils. As a real elixir of beauty, this oil overshadows all other oils in cosmetics thanks to its natural and dermatological virtues.

Our Tunisian organic cactus seed oil is pure certified organic oil, which complies with the requirements of international markets. Tunisia is now one of the leading producers and exporters of organic products in Africa. Tunisian organic production rules and control systems have been recognized by the European Union as being equivalent.

Our brand

quality

The brand Organic Cactus Seed Oil – Origin Tunisia is a national initiative that has been launched to promote oil from Tunisian prickly pear seeds with certified organic characteristics.

The brand was launched by the Tunisian State in collaboration with Tunisian companies, which operate in the organic cosmetics sector. This initiative aims to promote the virtues and the specificities of the magnificent oil as well as the wide range of cosmetic products based on it, including: serums, creams, shampoos, soaps, massage oils and many more.

Secrets of production

Our organic cactus seed oil is a precious vegetable oil. It takes 30 kilos of prickly pear seeds, or nearly a ton of fruits, to get a liter of the oil.

One prickly pear seed contains only 5% of pure oil.

The cold-extraction is carried out mechanically without any solvent, which makes the oil prized and unique.
